

Widows' forgiveness stops nation of Turkey

Following the murders of three Christian men in April, the nation of Turkey has been stunned by words of forgiveness offered by two of the men's widows and the Christian community.

Necati Aydin (36), Ugur Yuksel (32) and Tilman Geske (46), a German expatriate, were tortured before being brutally murdered in the city of Malatya on 18 April by five young men, who were motivated by religion.
